THE

MODELLING & SCIENTIFIC COMPUTING GROUP

SEMINAR SERIES 2005

NEEDS YOU, TODAY!

The Modelling and Scientific Computing Group's 2005 Seminar Series will be starting soon. The series is about sharing ideas and enthusiasm for research related to modelling and scientific computing! Talks can be on any topic and at whatever level you choose – from that neat idea you came across last week to expositions of your latest theories! You like Linux or you hate Linux – don't keep it to yourself, tell your peers why! The Modelling and Scientific Computing Group will provide a willing audience and a forum for debate ...

If you'd like to take part in or have suggestions about this year's MODSCI seminar series, please contact Niall McMahon today at nmcmahon@computing.dcu.ie
